The IQRA' Foundation

In 1983, a team of educators established the IQRA' International Educational Foundation, in an effort to institutionalize their educational endeavors which began in 1974.

IQRA' is an Islamic educational Waqf, a non profit trust, dedicated to the development and advancement of Islamic education through development of the highest quality educational materials.

The IQRA' Program creatively applies a modern methodology for writing, production and teaching Islamic Studies to a new generation of Muslims.

Islamic education must demonstrate the beauty and richness of Islamic civilization to our new generation. It must inspire them to become active partners in the human endeavor of making this world a better place to live.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

QUR'ANIC STUDIES: Pages 4-6

This program provides opportunities for the student to learn to decode and fluently recite the Arabic text of the Qur'an, as well as develop a clear understanding of its teaching and message. It also introduces students to the 'Ulum al-Qur'an'. The goal of the IQRA' Qur'anic Studies program is to help students grow up with the Qur'an as their guide in life. The program once followed in its entirety will develop the ability of reading the Qur'an in Arabic, understanding its meanings and acting upon its teachings with love and Iman, Insha Allah.

ARABIC LANGUAGE: Pages 7-9

This program is specially designed for children whose first language is not Arabic. The program aims at teaching students Arabic as a second language-covering six levels of difficulty through Eight years of full-time study. Many aspects of the language, such as syntax and grammar, are covered in detail, with special emphasis on vocabulary and comprehension.

SIRAH & HADITH STUDIES: Pages 10-11

This program aims at bringing to life the wisdom and personality of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ. We anticipate that this program will help children grow to be devoted and loving servants of the Best of Creation, Muhammad the Messenger of Allah ﷺ.

'AQIDAH , Fiqh & AKHLAQ: Pages 12-13

This program is developed to help young readers grow up to be those members of the community who, "enjoin what is good and censure what is wrong." There is an emphasis in the early grades on the elucidation of Islamic beliefs, living and thinking. The goal is to instill in our young students Islamic values as guide of every day living. At a more advanced grade level the focus shifts from basic rituals and Shari'ah principles, to developing an inclusive study and understanding of 'Aqidah, Fiqh and Akhlaq'

SOCIAL STUDIES: Pages 14-15

This program provides examples of righteous living through the experiences of those who have lived before us. We believe in developing a perspective where historical materials are not only used to create a chronological narration but rather used as a source of inspiration and learning. From stories of the many prophets, the Sababab to examples from everyday life, this program will capture the hearts of its users. This program also reinforces civic and geography skills by the adaptation of mainstream social studies standards.

ENRICHMENT: Pages 16-18

Our series of enrichment books consists of texts beyond the formal curriculum that will surely provide enjoyable reading while instilling Islamic values. They involve a range of topics and are aimed at every age level. From board books and poetry anthologies to inspiring traditions and legends these books will provide hours of quality reading.

CURRICULUM GUIDES: Page 19

The curriculum consists of guides designed to constitute a complete course in Islamic Studies. These detailed manuals supply goals and objectives as well as activities and worksheets. A complete bibliography is included of each subject at every grade level.

Teachings of the Qur'an Series

These are companion books to the above mentioned books of selected Surahs from the Qur'an. Specially developed for elementary classrooms, these books contain the teachings of the Qur'an for students to learn and follow. These books along with the books on the selected Surahs from the Qur'an constitute a complete course of Qur'anic Studies for elementary school children. Special effort is made to include Qur'anic Ayahs on Islamic Akbalq and Adab in each lesson.

By Drs. Abidullah & Tasneema Ghazi

L

Teachings of the Qur'an, I

The first in a series of straightforward yet appealing books brings the Qur'an and its teachings closer to young readers. The technical features of the Qur'an (such as meanings of the terms, division of the Qur'an into 'Ayah, Sumar, and Ajza), the total number of Sumar in the Qur'an, the first revelation to Prophet Muhammad, and ways to read the Qur'an are all dealt with. Other lessons include a discussion of the Five Pillars ('Arkan) of Islam in a clear and simple manner.

Teachings of the Qur'an, II

This textbook, along with the workbook, is a unique source of the Qur'anic teachings related to Islamic morals and manners for young readers. The first section deals with the meaning of Akblaq, its sources and foundations, as well as the personal, family, and social responsibilities of a believer. Other sections cover right actions such as kind deeds, justice, trust, sadaqah, and self-sacrifice. Also dealt with are 'wrong actions', for example mischief, making fun of others, lying, etc. Each lesson begins with a quote from the Qur'an as the source. This book may also be used at the upper elementary level.

The Essence of Islam

By Syed Hashim Ali Akbter

This unique and valuable book is an anthology based primarily upon the Qur'an, the Islamic scripture and secondarily upon Hadith, the second most important source of Islamic law and spiritual life. The anthology responds to the growing desire among both Muslims and non-Muslims to know about the basic teachings of Islam. The Qur'an and the Hadith are two most important sources of Islamic law, ethics and social life, and the compiler has allowed both these sources to speak directly to the readers on major topics, describing the message of Islam and the Islamic position on various human life issues.
